VIRTUAL TRAINING WORKSHOPS

Let Your Communication Take Flight

1.5 hour mini-module

Your communication style impacts how you naturally deliver messages and how others receive them. This session provides a fresh, fun and memorable way to embrace the four communication styles.

What bird personality are you? Are you predominantly an Eagle, Peacock, Dove or Owl? Your communication style impacts how you naturally deliver messages and how others receive them.

OUTCOME

The participants of the “Let Your Communication Take Flight” workshop will:

- Modify their approach to build better relationships and create trust
- Learn the specific signals and non-verbal clues that are unique to each bird type
- Identify key bird personalities in their environment
- Understand how to modify their communication and approach to enhance business results
- Gain strategies on how to build better connections with all bird types

This program is ideal for internal team building events and for enhancing customer / supplier relationships. Communication takes flight when you recognize the four types of birds in your environment and you flex your style to build better connections.
